

Southport Australian Football Club president Dr Alan Mackenzie and players committee chairman George Hubbard look over the designs for the new-style club colours and logo the Southport team will use in the first season in the Brisbane competition next year. The team will be known as the Southport Sharks and will wear a white jersey with a black vee. The new colours were designed by Hubbard, a commercial artist.